CLASSES, CONCERTS, SESSIONS, DANCING, MUSIC SCHOOLS

14th – 19th August 2016

Scoil Éigse is the official summer school organised by Comhaltas Ceoltóirí Éireann where Irish people and international students of all ages register for the various instrumental music, singing, dancing and Irish language classes.

It is the flagship event in the Comhaltas Education programme. Scoil Éigse provides a broad-based cultural educational experience for students, their families, other visitors and the general public.

Foundation Course at Scoil Éigse

This introduction to Irish traditional music, song and rhythm is for students between the ages of 12 and 18 who have an intellectual disability. The purpose of the course is to offer the students an opportunity to engage, in a class situation, with Irish traditional music and song. It is hoped that by the end of the week each student will have a couple of basic tunes and a better awareness of the fun in Irish traditional music.

Tin whistles, which will be supplied by Comhaltas, are the mainstay of most children's introduction to traditional music and our wonderful tutors, Josephine and Mary Nugent have years of experience working in the area on education for students with special needs. They are both highly accomplished musicians with several recordings to their names.
