

Invitation to professionals who support families of children with disabilities:

Could you participate in a study to help understand the kinds of information that families of children with disabilities need at the time of diagnosis?

- Do you work with and support families of children with disabilities?
- Can you help inform the general information that families receive at the time of diagnosis?

Please review a website designed to provide information to families who have just received their diagnosis or who are concerned about a possible diagnosis: www.informingfamilies.ie, and take our short online survey to help inform us on how to provide good information in the future.
